"Ms. Davis has provided strong leadership at the Henryville Correctional Facility and will bring a solid background in corrections to the Madison Correctional Facility."

Commissioner J. David Donahue

Indianapolis, Indiana - (April 12, 2007) - J. David Donahue, Commissioner of the Department of Correction has appointed Ms. Jan Davis as the new superintendent of the Madison Correctional Facility, effective April 23, 2007.

Most recently, Ms. Davis has served as the superintendent of the Henryville Correctional Facility since January of 2006. She began her career corrections in 1983 as an officer and moved up through the ranks. Her experience includes correctional management, counseling and business administration.

"Ms. Davis has provided strong leadership at the Henryville Correctional Facility and will bring a solid background in corrections to the Madison Correctional Facility," said J. David Donahue, Commissioner of the Indiana Department of Correction.

"This is a great new opportunity for Ms. Davis. As superintendent of the Madison Correctional Facility, I look forward to her leadership, focus and energy," added Donahue.

Ms. Davis holds a Bachelors Degree from Indiana University, with a concentration in Behavioral and Social Sciences.

"I am looking forward to my new position leading the staff at Madison," said Jan Davis. "Under Commissioner Donahue's leadership, Indiana corrections is thriving and I am excited to contribute to the team."

Davis follows Doris Parlette, who retired from the Department on February 28, 2007.

The Madison Correctional Facility is a minimum security facility which houses up to 406 female offenders.
